- Includes mobile App featuring all the basic functions of telephone entry and added conveniences of multi-tenant living

Integration Requirements:

- Keyscan Aurora Software Ver. 1.0.21 or higher (EAURORA)
- Keyscan Aurora Webb Vision integration license (EAUR-WV)

Security and convenience converge with the new two-way integration between Keyscan Aurora™ Access Control Management Software and Webb Vision Entry Systems.

Designed for modern facilities and multi-tenant environments, this powerful partnership delivers seamless control, real-time visibility, and unmatched reliability—all through a single, browser-based interface.

At the door, Webb Vision sets a new standard in durability and performance. Its vandal-resistant touchscreen is engineered to operate flawlessly in harsh weather conditions, without "ghost dialing," and even while wearing gloves. For added convenience and hygiene, touchless dialing is built in, allowing visitors to connect instantly using their own smartphone via Vision QR technology.

The two-way integration with Keyscan Aurora elevates the solution even further. Both systems are unified into a single browser-based interface, enabling streamlined management and reduced training time. The platform leverages existing Keyscan credentials and permissions, ensuring consistent access control criteria across entry points and elevators (additional software or licenses may apply). Operators gain instant insight with real-time reporting pulled simultaneously from both Webb Vision and Keyscan systems.

For residents and tenants, the experience extends to a mobile app that combines essential telephone entry functions with added conveniences tailored to today's connected, multi-tenant lifestyles. Together, Keyscan Aurora and Webb Vision deliver a smarter, more secure, and more efficient way to manage access—proving that true integration is not just connected, it is transformative.
